

WILSON SELECTS ENVOYS TO PARIS

And They Will Have Seats in the Allies' War Council

WORK TO BE DONE IS OUTLINED

Conditions in Russia and Italy to Be Considered First

Washington, Nov. 2.—President Wilson has selected the American delegates to the greater allied conference in Paris on Nov. 15—the first in which this government will have officially participated. Their names will be announced soon. Their work has been outlined.

Foremost among the questions to be considered immediately at the conference will be the military and economic conditions in Russia and Italy. The Balkan situation, particularly as regards Rumania, presents some delicate points. Rumania, penniless and in serious straits, is under strong Teuton pressure to give up the struggle, but she is needed for the contemplated spring campaign in conjunction with Jugo-Slav legions on the northeastern allied front. Hence plans for rehabilitating the Rumanian army will be laid at the conference. Preliminary discussion of the Rumanian situation is under way in London this week. The question of Japanese and Chinese participation in the war on a larger scale will be included in the mapping out of a general war plan. Before any such participation on the eastern front is possible, however, it is declared the trans-Siberian railroad, now virtually useless, must be rebuilt.

While it has been officially announced that war methods, not war aims, would be the purpose of the great conference,

TRACE DISEASE TO CONSTIPATION

One of the points on which different schools of medicine practically agree is, that about 85% of all human disease is directly traceable to intestinal putrefaction of stomach waste due to inactivity of the bowels, or constipation. The eliminative process is an essential factor in digestion and on its proper functioning depends the welfare of the entire system.

Constipation is a condition that should never be neglected. As soon as the bowels evidence the slightest disposition to slow up, a mild laxative should be taken. The combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin, known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin and sold in drug stores for fifty cents a bottle, is highly recommended as a corrective, acting gently, in an easy, natural way, without griping or other pain or discomfort. A trial bottle of this excellent family remedy can be obtained, free of charge, by writing to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 456 Washington St., Monticello, Illinois.

it appears inevitable that out of the discussion will probably come some definite plan for educating the people of the allied nations as to the objectives in pursuing to the end the struggle against the kaiser.

There has appeared some difference in these objectives between the different allied powers. It has given rise to much Switzerland's needs for foodstuffs from liberal pressure in all countries is being brought to bear for a general statement on war aims out of the conference.

The credit yesterday was the largest ever made to an allied government. The money will be withdrawn from the treasury only as needed to pay for war contracts.

Vermont Lieutenant Tells How He Saw Shell Coming and Ducked

BUT GOT FRAGMENT IN ONE OF HIS LEGS

Saw Shell as It Was Coming Toward Him in a Dugout

With the American troops in the trenches, Oct. 31.—The first American officer wounded on the American front is at the present moment about as well satisfied as any man in the war. He is a first lieutenant from Vermont in the signal corps.

He is lying comfortably in bed in the Johns Hopkins base hospital, where he arrived Monday night. His right knee is propped up, swathed in bandages after a slight operation to remove fragments of a German shell which tore through a muscle and slightly cut a bone. He will be up and about again in a few weeks, probably without even a limp to show his distinction. There is not the slightest doubt about his recovery.

Aside from the unique distinction of being the first American officer wounded, he has a remarkable experience to look back upon. For he saw the shell, a fragment of which hit him, coming through the air straight toward him and threw himself on the ground in the nick of time to save his life. The shell burst only 20 feet away.

He bears no malice against the Germans, even though they shelled the ambulance that carried him to the rear, for they not only made him a celebrity but he brought it on himself by lighting a fire in his dugout. His only worry is lest his recovery be so slow as to prevent his early return to active duty.

He is a big man, a six footer, with an expansive smile and a slow, quiet voice. His face is typically American, square-jawed, clear-eyed and with perfect color, notwithstanding his exhausting ride in the ambulance and the operation that followed. The only sign of the invalid about him was the two days' growth of stubby beard.

"It happened about 10 o'clock Sunday morning, just about church time back home," he said. "I had been along the first line trench inspecting the new telephone lines my men had just put in. I got back to my dugout pretty damp and lighted a fire to dry out. That's what queered me. The Germans saw that smoke."

"After I got the fire started I started for Major —'s dugout, only a hundred feet away, to bum a cigarette. Just as I came out of the door I heard a boom over toward the German lines and I knew it was a gun. Then I heard the shell whining and looked up out of the dugout just under the edge of the hill. And, it's the honest truth, I saw that shell come over the top of the hill not ten feet from the ground, headed for me. Well, it came so close to the ground that we found later it had cut my telephone wires and they were only nine feet from the ground."

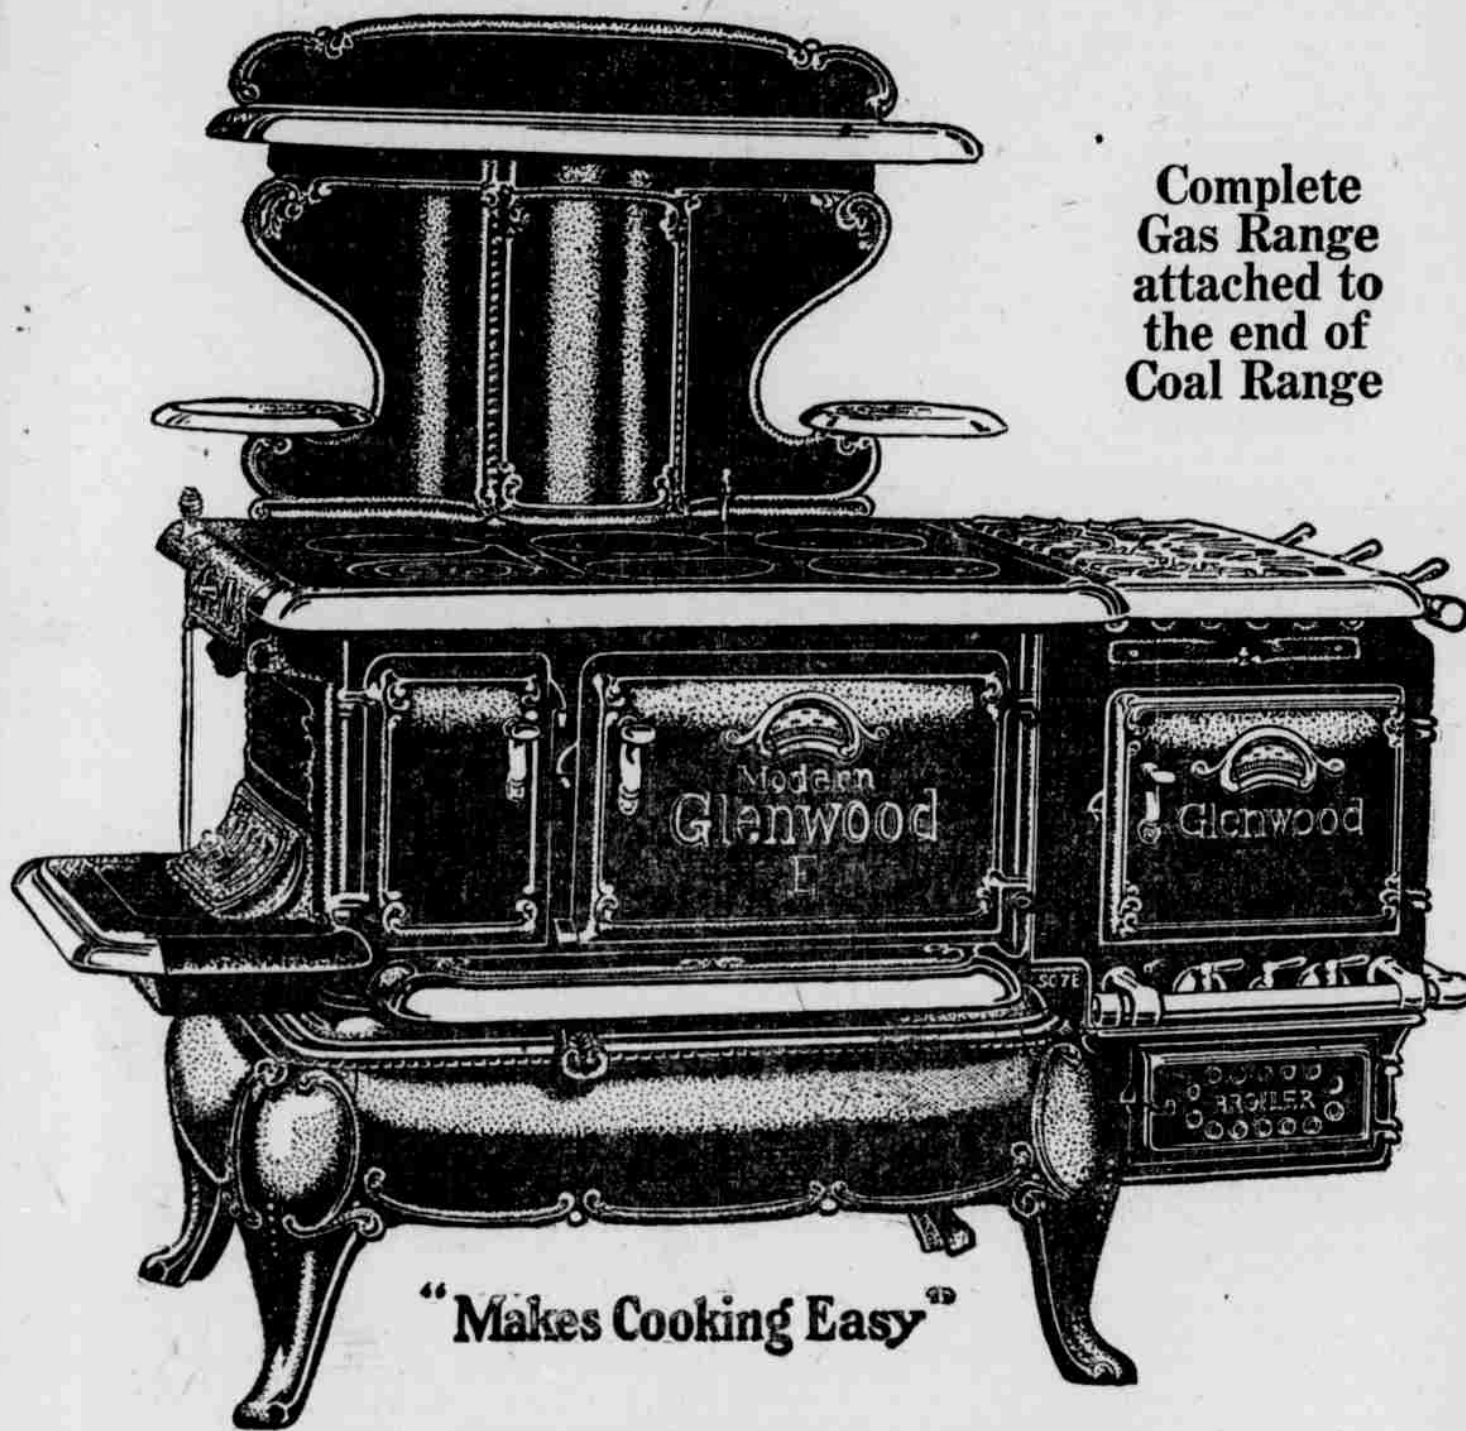

"I could see that shell just as plainly as I see you. It looked like a football, only, believe me, it came a heap sight faster than any football. A funny thing, it didn't seem headed for my legs or
